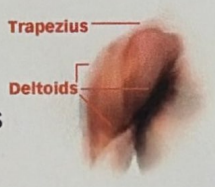
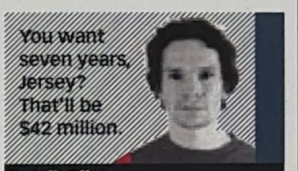
Delts From Hell

Hard-hitting New Jersey Devils captain Patrik Elias transforms your shoulders into battering rams.





Patrik Elias

Alternating Shoulder Press

1 Sit squarely on a medium-size Swiss ball with your feet flat on the floor. Keeping your palms facing inward, press both dumbbells overhead.

2 With your left arm extended, slowly lower your right arm until the dumbbell is just above shoulder level. Hold for three seconds.

3 Press your right arm back to the overhead position, hold for three more seconds, and repeat with the other side. Do three sets of 10 and rest.

Incline Row to External Rotation

1 Set up an incline bench at a 45-degree angle and lie facedown, anchoring your torso with the balls of your feet. Let the dumbbells dangle.

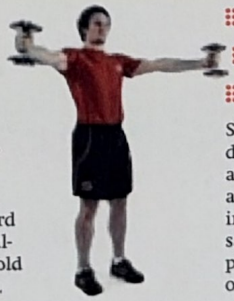
2 Row the dumbbells up and out until your elbows and forearms form a 45-degree angle. Keep your head up and repeat the phrase, "Pain don't hurt!"

3 Pivoting with your elbows, rotate the dumbbells forward and up until your forearms are parallel with the bench angle. Do three sets of eight and rest.

Forward Dumbbell Raise to Scaption

1 Let the dumbbells dangle at thigh level with your back straight and your feet shoulder width apart. Your palms should face inward. Try not to pass out.

2 With your arms straight and your palms facing inward, raise the dumbbells forward until they're parallel to the floor. Hold for three seconds.



3 Slowly bring the dumbbells around and back until your arms form a T, keeping them on the same horizontal plane. Do three sets of 10 and rest.
